fraxion

benefits of cloud solutions

The development of Fraxion's cloud-based solution was a natural progression, following many years of spend management and procurement domain expertise. Fraxion Spend Management was custom built for the cloud, using the latest cutting edge technology and hosted on the Microsoft Azure platform. The cloud–based cost containment suite delivers the visibility and control to achieve business efficiency and profitability in rapid succession.

key deployment advantages of cloud-based solutions:

flexibility
Cloud-based services are scalable; cloud capacity on remote servers can be increased or decreased as your business demands change or grow.

disaster recovery
Cloud-based solutions provide robust security measures to back up and restore data, making this vital service accessible to every business, regardless of size.

automatic software updates
No on-site servers required; Fraxion is responsible for the maintenance, regular software updates and server security measures.

capital expenditure free
Cloud computing eradicates expensive hardware and database management software requirements.

broad user adoption
IT resource and project management demands are minimal and a user-friendly, mobile system is delivered, accelerating user adoption.

mobile productivity
Cloud-based solutions give you the freedom to work from any location; all that is required is a mobile device and an Internet connection. Remote access and mobile device flexibility drives productivity and reduces process delays.

security
Cloud computing protects sensitive data and manages risk; all data is stored in the cloud and will not be lost through the damage or loss of a laptop or mobile device.

competitive edge
By moving to the cloud you will gain enterprise-level technology, regardless of the size of your business.

complements the ERP solution
Not ready to replace a legacy on-premise ERP system, but identify the need to improve administrative processes, control operational costs and gain access to the benefits of cloud technology? Fraxion Spend Management offers the ideal solution to complement the existing ERP without the need to re-invest or re-implement an ERP system.
